

Nature Play Pop-up

Saturday, June 29

9:30am-12:30pm

Small Playground in City Park

Build, dig, jump and frolic during this free, all-ages, interactive play-based event hosted by the Museum, Denver Parks & Recreation and Bienenstock Natural Playgrounds. Join us as we explore the essence of natural play experiences. Why is it important to you to experience nature in an urban setting? RSVP (not required but appreciated) at dmns.org/natureplay or natureplay@dmns.org.

As part of the recently completed City Park Master Plan Update, the Denver Museum of Nature & Science is excited to support the re-development of the small playground in City Park by creating natural play spaces. We want to know what makes nature, science and play meaningful to you to help inform the design of these spaces. Please participate in one or all of the community engagement opportunities to provide input.

Get Involved

- Save the Dates: July 27 and September 14
-Visit dmns.org/natureplay to learn more
- Email natureplay@dmns.org to receive updates and event invitations
- Show us your nature play inspirations by tagging @DenverMuseumNS and using #natureplay in your Instagram posts, or send your photos to natureplay@dmns.org (please include photo credit details)

#NaturePlay

